

The Association Revitalizes Its Image

The new mission statement for the Association is:

- to ensure the safekeeping and the development of the family heritage of the descendants of the Robitailles and of the variations of that name and
- to spread the knowledge of that heritage.

The family heritage is its genealogy, its history, its culture.

The variations of the name Robitaille include those names where the spelling has been modified over time.

To spread the knowledge of that heritage signifies the encouragement of people getting together and the use of communication techniques to that end.

A new membership category has been created: The Internet Partners.

They periodically receive Internet messages about the family heritage and the activities of the Association.

They pay no dues.

They may be asked to supply information for our genealogical dictionary or for a publication.

(Regular members need not enroll because they already receive more complete documents, but they may wish to enroll relatives.)

How to become an Internet partner.

Send your e-mail address, address, telephone number, and an indication of your interest in the family (see below) to
